

Aggie Grey's Hotel & Bungalows - Samoa

Aggie Grey's has been Samoa's most famous address in the capital since 1933 and recalls the era of Somerset Maughan. Bananas hang from the cool verandas, afternoon tea and English sandwiches can still be enjoyed in the coffee lounge, and drums call you to dinner where your waiter becomes a fire dancer for the night.

The legendary hotel has activities to suit all tastes and ages with its central location, on the harbour, near most of Apia's major attractions, from local flea markets to more adventurous destinations where you can try deep sea fishing, snorkelling and outrigger canoeing. Guests at Aggie Grey's receive complimentary daily green fees at the picturesque Royal Samoan Country Club.

There is wide range of accommodation styles from Deluxe Suites with views of the harbour or mountains. The Garden Bungalows feature traditional décor and intricate woven roof interiors. Scattered around the sprawling complex you will find Standard Rooms with views of the pool area and the hotel's lush green gardens.

From the fine dining in Le Tamarina Restaurant to the laid-back atmosphere of the 'island-style' Fale Restaurant, you'll find the perfect ambience and cuisine to match your mood and taste. Wind down to island pace, have a refreshing dip in the freshwater pool then sit back and enjoy their signature cocktail, a delicious "Aggies Special". Regardless of your choice, you'll be offered the best in Samoan tradition at this home away from home – hospitality that is unsurpassed in the South Pacific.
