

Aggie Grey's Lagoon, Beach Resort & Spa - Samoa

This incredible resort is situated on a piece of paradise where James Mitchener began writing Tales of the South Pacific. Nestled amongst 90 hectares of gardens, amidst swaying palm trees and overlooking the Pacific Ocean, it has the best white sands in Polynesia.

Here in this beautiful location where Solent Flying Boats anchored during their famous Coral Route flights in the 1950s, you'll find the stylish Aggie Grey's Lagoon, Beach Resort & Spa. The property offers 144 air-conditioned Deluxe Ocean View rooms, all with sweeping vistas of the shimmering Pacific Ocean and across to the islands of Savaii, Manono and Apolima.

There is a multitude of culinary experiences on site: fine dining in the South Pacific signature restaurant, Asian fusion cuisine in the Tekali Restaurant. Pacific Rim dishes in the Mahi Mahi restaurant, lavish buffets in the Samoan Fale and tasty Italian fare at the Coconut Grove Pizzeria. And just in case you are hungry, there is an all day snack menu, children's menus and room service available.

The Resort hosts a great range of activities and facilities. There is an 18-hole golf course of international standard, tennis courts, daily cultural activities, Manaia Day Spa with its unique Polynesian treatments and services, Dolphins Kids Club, and AquaSamoa WaterSports and Diving Centre with the most extensive choice of water activities in Samoa.

For the romantics, a 100-year-old wedding chapel offers a wedding experience like no other and a true Samoan romance.
