

Pilgrimage Village & Vedana Lagoon

Pilgrimage Village and Vedana Lagoon are sophisticated boutique resorts and spas lying between two beautiful Vietnamese cities south of Da Nang that are world heritage sites: Hue and Hoi. Hue, formerly the imperial capital of the Nguyễn Dynasty, is rich in monuments and architecture while in Hoi An visitors can explore the Old Town's winding lanes and shophouses.

The delightfully rustic resort of Pilgrimage Village provides a taste of rural Vietnam where you can watch skillful artisans create beautiful items or take a Vietnamese cooking class.

Accommodation is in comfortable villas and bungalows near a spa, swimming pools and a variety of bar and restaurants. The spacious brick or marble villas have lake or countryside views and are furnished simply but artistically. The Honeymoon Pool Hut has its own private garden and four-poster bed.

At the spa you can experience traditional Vietnamese massage with its cupping, pressure point technique and invigorating movements to warm and relax muscle tissue and improve the circulation. Or pamper yourself with a flower or herbal bath.

Vedana Lagoon is a resort and spa nestled on the serene shore of one of the largest lagoons in South East Asia, offering contemporary decor on a 27 hectare area of small hills.

Sample the delicious dishes of The Horizon restaurant and the seafood restaurant and enjoy famous local spirits in the Cape Bar.

Vedana Wellness at Vedana Lagoon is a spa blend of ancient traditional healing wisdom from the East with therapies from the West. Ayurveda, meditation, Reiki, Tai chi or yoga classes help you find balance.
