

The Chedi Club at Tanah Gajah Ubud - Bali, Indonesia

The Chedi Club at Tanah Gajah in Ubud, Bali, lies in an exclusive private estate with a breathtaking rural setting. The nearby Club Lounge and Restaurant appears to almost float on the gently swaying fields of rice against a backdrop of lush coconut palms and the mighty volcano Gunung Agung.

The Chedi Club's accommodation comprises 20 self-contained suites and villas, spread throughout five hectares of magical gardens, encompassed by an infinite vista of rice fields. There are three one-bedroom Spa Villas, nine one-bedroom Pool Villas, seven one-bedroom Suites, and the stunning two-bedroom Estate Villa. Using elegant furniture and local artifacts, the interiors cleverly blend contemporary sophistication with the traditions of Bali.

The concept of The Chedi Club is similar to its sister GHM property, The Club at The Legian, with its 'Club Service', but in a highly contrasting location. A private butler looks after every need of his or her guests throughout the duration of their stay.

Guests have unsurpassed pampering at the Spa Villas featuring private massage suite, sauna, cold plunge pool, rainforest shower and bathtub. Alternatively the Pool Villas each feature a private 10-metre pool with a sundeck, together with a dining balé that melds into the walled tropical garden.

The menu at The Restaurant offers a harmonious balance of delectable Western and Indonesian cuisine utilizing the best and freshest ingredients harvested from the resort's own herb and vegetable gardens.

Other facilities include The Spa, the 35-metre main pool, a gym, a tennis court and an amphitheatre showcasing cultural performances.
